Hi Dan,

Sorry to make you schlep all the way up to 7th – my days are overwhelmed with meetings, so sometimes it's hard to find me. Deliberative Process / Ex. 5

Subject: House Appropriations Hearing Question regarding NAS Study in FY 2017

Hello all,

We received the following question from the House Appropriations Committee related to IRIS and NAS

In your testimony, you noted that after formaldehyde was dropped from the IRIS program's priority list, one of the reasons the OPPT proposed to add it to its priority list was because of Congressional and public interest in, as you put it, "getting some answers on formaldehyde." Indeed, as part of the FY 2017 budget, Congress provided EPA with $1 million and directed the agency to contract with the National Academies of Sciences to conduct a peer review of the IRIS program's revised draft assessment of formaldehyde.

McCollum Q14: Did EPA obligate funds to conduct this study? If not, why not? (ORD)
